focuses on understanding the physical, social, and economic characteristics of urban and suburban areas. You will learn how cities work by analyzing the basic concepts and principles of urban studies, the urban environment, and the relationship between public policy and...